Trace Stool

The Trace stool is a collaboration between industrial designer Scott Fitzsimons and Città. An exercise in reduction, the stool balances minimalism with comfort, resulting in an elegant, understated character. Building on the Trace dining chair (first released in 2021), the stool reinterprets its signature curved backrest.

The Trace stool offers versatility with three wood finishes: oak, black, and walnut. For added comfort, an upholstered black leather seat is also available. BIFMA-tested for durability.
